See the Publishers' Displays

The American Academy of Religion and its official organ, The Journal of Bible and Religion, have always had a special interest in acquainting professors of religion with the best contemporary literature in the field. Book reviews, book notices, and selected advertising have long been a part of the Journal.

This year eight publishers will arrange displays of their lists, exhibiting their new titles and their old favorites. Please patronize these exhibits, where you may examine new books at your leisure and place orders.

HOTEL RESERVATIONS

All sessions of the Annual Meeting will be held at the Sheraton Chicago Hotel, 505 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois. The hotel has reserved a block of 150 rooms which will be held until October 1, 1966. Please use the postpaid card enclosed in this book to reserve rooms at the hotel. Other accommodations are available in the downtown Chicago area and members may make their own arrangements if they so desire. It is hoped, however, that a substantial number of those in attendance will take advantage of the facilities offered by the Sheraton-Chicago.

Old and New in Interpretation

A Study of the Two Testaments

By JAMES BARR. "One of the most stimulating books which has appeared in the field for many years... a penetrating analysis which will change the direction of much current interpretation." — BREVARD S. CHILDS, Yale Divinity School $5.50

Language, Hermeneutic, and Word of God

By ROBERT W. FUNK. This pioneering study of the interpretation of Scripture in its contemporary setting "marks the beginning of a new kind of theology in America" — JAMES M. ROBINSON, editor of THE NEW HERMENEUTIC $7.50

The Reality of God

And Other Essays

By SCHUBERT M. OGDEN. "A creative 'dialogue' from which an attractive new outlook emerges that considerably outstrips the HONEST TO GOD synthesis. A unique enterprise, superbly executed" — JAMES L. ADAMS, Harvard Divinity School $6.00

Evil and the God of Love

By JOHN HICK. The most complete treatment of the problem of evil to appear in English in a generation. Dr. Hick explores the interpretations of evil given throughout the history of Christian thought, then proposes a theodicy for today which affirms the reality both of evil and the God of love $6.95

Secular Christianity

By RONALD GREGOR SMITH. "This is perhaps the most important book to appear in English in the past decade... places the debate between Faith and Secularism in the context of a search to discover the form of Christ in the world." — EDWIN ROBERTSON, The British Weekly $5.00

The Revelation of St. John the Divine

By G. B. CAIRD. Based on the author's own fresh translation from the original Greek, this volume examines the nature of John's experience, the structure of the book, and its message, with special focus on Revelation's theology. A volume in Harper's New Testament Commentaries. $6.50

Concerning the Placement Service of the Academy

The American Academy of Religion wishes once again to call the attention of its membership to the offices of its Placement Service.

This service operates to assist members of the Academy in finding teaching positions in the field of religion. Members who are seeking placement are asked to write to the Placement Chairman, Professor Robert Osborn, Box 4735, Duke Station, Durham, North Carolina 27706. He will mail to the applicant duplicate placement forms, which, when they are executed and returned to the Placement Office, will be entered into the placement files. When an institution seeking to make an appointment inquires of the Placement Office, the placement chairman will mail to the institution the forms of those candidates who appear to be qualified for the position. Any direct contact between the inquiring institution and the candidate is initiated by the institution.

In order to make the office as effective as possible, there is an annual mailing, in the fall of the year, to the major college and university departments of religion, and to the major theological seminaries. Also, the Bulletin will carry notices of the placement service.

In order that the files be kept up to date, every candidate on file with the office is asked in the fall of each year to renew his application if placement is still sought for the next academic year.

This office is yours, and we urge you to use it should you be seeking placement or should you be seeking new appointments in your respective departments.

The service of the Placement Office will be available at the annual meeting, during hours to be announced at the meeting.

ENCOUNTERING TRUTH by Harold Hatt. Is there a resolution to the debate between encounter and propositional theology? Dr. Hatt examines the encounter theology of Martin Buber and Emil Brunner and the propositional theology of J. Gresham Machen, B. B. Warfield, and Abraham Kuyper. His resolution combines elements of both schools. 208 pages. $4.50

THE SERPENT AND THE DOVE by Samuel Laeuchli. The forces of evil and good and their encounter in the early church. The book is composed of five essays — on the period of the persecutions from A.D. 217 to A.D. 337, the Nicene Council, Constantine, the early saints, and the claim that "the church is one" during the patristic period. 256 pages. $5.95

THE SECULARIZATION OF HISTORY by Larry Shiner. The author gives a compact and readable introduction to the thought of Friedrich Gogarten and to his increasing influence on such American theologians as Cox, Hamilton, and Van Buren. The main focus of the book is the presentation of Gogarten's thesis that the secularization of history truly began with Christianity. 240 pages. $5

AMERICAN RELIGIOUS HERETICS edited by George H. Shriver. Presented both in the light of theology and in the larger pattern of church history, these essays study five churchmen who were tried either formally or informally for their unorthodoxy — Philip Schaff, C. H. Toy, C. A. Briggs, Borden Parker Bowne, and Algernon S. Crapsey. 240 pages. $5

Will she learn about God, too?

On her first day at school she is looking forward to learning. She will learn how to read and write, later learn history and arithmetic. But will her school teach her about God?

Few schools are equipped or permitted to give children the religious training they need. Church and Sunday School will help, but the greatest responsibility rests with the parents.

The Upper Room will help you give your child a firm religious foundation. Through its daily devotions religion becomes more real to your child and to your whole family.

Millions of Christians around the world use The Upper Room as their daily devotional guide. Non-denominational, it is distributed by some 50,000 churches every two months.

Send for a FREE copy or start your subscription or bulk order with the September-October number. Ten or more copies to one address, 10¢ per copy, postpaid. Individual yearly subscriptions (English or Spanish) $1.00.

Religious educators now look to Lippincott for distinguished books like these

THE COMFORTABLE PEW

by Pierre Berton

One hundred thousand copies are now in print of the American edition of this explosive book that has become the number one topic of study and discussion in the Protestant churches. "... a book every churchman ought to read. While it speaks the truth bluntly and frankly, it is not offensive. Any honest preacher will welcome such criticism."

— BISHOP GERALD KENNEDY. Paper $1.95, Cloth, $3.50

GOD BEYOND DOUBT

by Geddes MacGregor

Above the "God is dead" clamor, this book sounds a brilliant note of Christian belief. "It is a pleasure in among the fashionable jargon of Christian agnosticism even to read the title 'God Beyond Doubt!'"

— DAVID H. C. READ, Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church. $3.95

THE RESTLESS CHURCH

A Response to "The Comfortable Pew"

Edited, with an Introduction by WILLIAM KILBOURN

Fifteen important churchmen have been inspired by Pierre Berton's The Comfortable Pew to search more deeply into the church's shortcomings. "Anyone concerned with Christian faith and modern man must read this book . . . to know what the contemporary ferment is all about."— NORMAN PITTENGER, General Theological Seminary, New York.

Paper $1.95, Cloth $3.50

THE FUTURE OF CATHOLIC CHRISTIANITY

Edited, with an Introduction by MICHAEL de la BEDOYERE

In striking contrast to Mr. de la Bedoyere's Objections to Roman Catholicism, in which lay Catholics and an archbishop wrote with candor of the difficulties they encountered in their faith, this volume brings together a new team of distinguished Roman Catholics who take a positive stance in delineating the future not only of orthodox Roman Catholicism but of Christianity itself as a universal religion. $4.95

ESSENTIALS OF BIBLE HISTORY

By the late ELMER W. K. MOULD.
Revised by H. NEIL RICHARDSON,
Boston University; and
ROBERT F. BERKEY,
Mount Holyoke College

New—Third Edition!

This distinguished book for introductory courses in the study of the Bible has been revised and updated to reflect latest advances in Biblical archaeology and research. Outstanding events of both sacred and profane history are comprehensively treated, and the Scriptures are fully discussed from religious, ethical, and literary points of view. Every book of the Bible, including the Apocrypha and Pseudepigrapha, is separately examined. An account of the domestic life and manners of the Biblical peoples leads to a fuller understanding of the sacred writings.

Throughout, citation of passages by chapter and verse serves to direct the student's Bible reading. The Revised Standard Version of the Bible has been employed as a source throughout.

3rd Ed., 1966. 842 pp. $7.75

PEOPLE OF THE COVENANT: An Introduction to the Old Testament

HENRY JACKSON FLANDERS, JR.;
ROBERT WILSON CRAPPS; and DAVID ANTHONY SMITH
—all Furman University

This textbook offers a clear over-all picture of Old Testament history. Beginning with Genesis, it outlines the story of Israel to the century preceding Christianity. Archaeological, literary, and theological contributions are utilized, with the Old Testament as a basis. Throughout, Israel's story is placed in its ancient Near Eastern setting but is interpreted as distinct because of its profound religious dimension. Teaching aids include references to Scripture passages appropriate to each subject discussed; maps, chronology charts, drawings, and photographs. "College teachers and others who need a good textbook for a beginning course of study in the Old Testament will welcome this book."
—The Review and Expositor.

Understanding the Old Testament, Second Edition, 1966

by Bernhard W. Anderson,
Drew University

"... it weaves together historical, critical, and theological perspectives to give a sympathetic account of Israel's faith in its temporal setting. For this new edition the material has been revised and updated; especially in the earlier pages has there been a certain amount of rewriting while, later, the meager two pages on the Psalms have been replaced by a whole new chapter. There are many new illustrations and a new eight-page color insert—all, as before, well-chosen and excellently reproduced... "It may be safely prophesized that this new edition will secure and hold many new generations of readers. . . ." —from a review by (the Rev.) J. R. Brown in The Living Church

April 1966, 586 pp., $7.95

"... an excellent resumé of most of the major critical problems facing the scholarly world... highly readable and non-technical..." —from a review in Church School Worker

Understanding the New Testament, Second Edition, 1965

by Howard Clark Kee, Drew University; Franklin W. Young, Princeton University; and Karlfried Froelich, Drew University

"Retaining the approach of their widely-used first edition, the authors have expanded considerably their discussions of Gnosticism and the Dead Sea Scrolls, and have added separate chapters dealing with the distinctive theological viewpoints in each Gospel. Also developed more fully for this edition are the sections on the origin of the Synoptic Gospels, the question of the historical Jesus and the organizational development of the early Church. . . ." —from a review in New Testament Abstracts

Outstanding Religious Texts From Harper & Row, Publishers

An Introduction to Christianity

Robert T. Anderson and Peter B. Fischer

Mainly a doctrinal approach to the major Christian faiths, this new text is comprehensive rather than sectarian, and the authors avoid what they think Christianity ought to be in favor of what experience demonstrates it is. Treats the Bible systematically. Brief chapter bibliographies.

236 pages, $4.95

A Light to the Nations:

An Introduction to the Old Testament

Norman K. Gottwald

Presents the Hebrew-Jewish faith in its historical continuity, with special attention to the Old Testament. Literature, history, and religion are integrated. Thirty-three period maps of Near East and Palestine; four charts and glossary of technical terms.

614 pages, $6.95

Man Seeks the Divine:

A Study in the History and Comparison of Religions, Second Edition

Edwin A. Burt

Located within the total picture of human history, the religions are studied through vivid sketches of the lives and times of the founders and great exponents, setting forth the most ideal understanding each has achieved. Discusses the significance of such recent movements as that initiated by Mahatma Gandhi.

505 pages, $6.25

Song of the Vineyard:

A Theological Introduction to the Old Testament

B. Davie Napier

This brief introduction surveys the story of Ancient Israel, but is concerned chiefly with theological meaning and deals inductively with all significant problems of the Old Testament. Always the aim of the study, and the problems, is to point to, clarify, and encourage the reading of the text of the Old Testament.

387 pages, $6.00

A Historical Approach to the New Testament

Frederic R. Crownfield

This book carefully depicts the historical patterns and cultural development of the biblical period. The author explains the historian's procedures of scholarship and organization by which legitimate interpretations can be made from the New Testament. Maps and photographs.

420 pages, $5.95

The Western Heritage of Faith and Reason

J. Calvin Keene

A revision of Experience, Reason, and Faith, by

Bewkes, Jefferson, Brautigam, and Adams

A comprehensive survey, within a historical framework, of the part played by religion, philosophy, and, to a lesser degree, science in the origin and development of Western civilization. End — paper maps.

703 pages, $8.50

Through the Gospels to Jesus

Dwight M. Beck

A general but comprehensive study of Jesus as set forth in the gospels and as interpreted both by scholars of the past and by leading Biblical scholars of today. Among the valuable aids: full scriptural references; explanations of terms; and identifications of persons and places. Colored map of Palestine at the time of Jesus.
